Reason for Ascendancy

Recent reports of subdivision committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce have given valuable and interesting figures concerning Chicago's world leadership in several branches of industry. A recapitulation of these would give ample reasons for Chicago's commercial and industrial ascendancy. But there is another field, which these reports have not yet touched in which Chicago not only leads the world, but which contributes materially to Chicago's leadership in other directions.

This is in the production of electric power. The Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago is "a class by itself" in the matter of producing electric energy, and this fact is recognized and commented upon by electrical authorities throughout the world.

The Electric Times of London, England, in a recent issue, shows that Chicago today produces almost as much electric energy as all Great Britain and is likely soon to produce more. Says this journal:

"We Britons may be able to boast the largest city in the world, but when

REMARKABLE-RAILROAD CLOCK

Truly remarkable is the unique clock constructed in his spare moments by C. W. Egan, general claims agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and a leader in the "Safety First" movement recently started by that railroad. Replacing the numerals on the clock, which is six feet high, are the letters contained in the words "Safety First." Across the face of the clock are the words "Baltimore and Ohio Railroad," the letter "B" of the first word replacing the numeral "9," thus completing the twelve letters. Over the dial is a semaphore. Twice daily the clock performs three essentials to safe railroading. Promptly at 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. the semaphore drops to green, this being the signal to the engineer to go ahead with caution. Then a whistle blows twice, which is the engineer's signal that he sees the warning of the man in the tower. When the whistle subsides a bell rings, this being a reminder that no locomotive must be started before a bell stops a curtain falls from the rear of the clock on which are printed ten "Safety First Don'ts." — From the Strand.
